

Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, November 27, 2016 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. The top lawyer for Hillary Clinton's presidential bid said Saturday that the campaign would join a third-party candidate's effort to seek what? (MAIN)
2. Holiday shoppers eager to snag big discounts turned to the internet in record fashion last week, one tracking company said, driving online sales on Black Friday to a new high. Consumers spent $_____ billion shopping online Friday, a 21.6 percent increase from the same day last year, according to Adobe, which tracks online retail transactions. (MAIN)
3. After months of wrangling, Britain's Parliament has passed a contentious new snooping law that gives authorities — from police and spies to food regulators, fire officials and tax inspectors — powers to look at what? (MAIN)
4. After multiple but unproven accusations that President Vladimir Putin of Russia is working hard to destabilize what? How do they know this? (MAIN)
5. President Obama said Saturday that the death of Fidel Castro was an occasion for Americans to do what? (MAIN)
6. At the nursery, a concrete floored, bunker-like space, ASPCA staff members and volunteers tend up to 300 stray and orphan kittens at a time, acting as surrogate mothers. What do they do to care for these kittens? (MAIN)
7. After spending roughly 30 years as a mountain biker, Bella Berlly wasn't ready to give the sport up when she was diagnosed with a degenerative muscle disease. Unable to power a bicycle entirely on her own, the resident of White Salmon in Klickitat County found the solution in an electric pedal-assist bike. Why won't the U.S. Forest Service let her? (NW SUNDAY)
8. The Columbia River Gorge is famous for sweeping, dramatic vistas, but new research published by the U.S. Geological Survey reveals a shifting landscape beneath the forest. What did three researchers with USGS map? (NW SUNDAY)
9. A series of storms had dropped more than 2 feet of snow in 24 hours at Hurricane Ridge in Olympic National Park by Saturday afternoon, dumped nearly 3 inches of rain at Hood Canal and left much of Western Washington with an increased risk of landslides because of what? (NW SUNDAY)
10. What was the top deciding factor in the Huskies' Apple Cup win, according to the Seattle Times poll? (SPORTS)
