

Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, January 22, 2017 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. Malia Obama will soon get a taste of the movie business. Page Six reports that after a family vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., she will take an internship with The Weinstein Co. She is expected to work in the New York office beginning next month. The internship comes during her gap year: The 18-year-old will start at what university in the fall? (MAIN)
2. Prince William will stop working as an air-ambulance helicopter pilot at the East Anglia Air Ambulance service this summer to spend more time working on what? (MAIN)
3. TODAY IN HISTORY: The first regularly scheduled commercial flight of the Boeing 747 began in New York and ended in London some 6 ½ hours later. What year did this take place? (MAIN)
4. In his first speech as president of the United States, Donald Trump showed the world he could be as divisive abroad as he is at home. His vow to place America first — and his threat to upend longstanding alliances, trade deals and many other tenets of the liberal democratic order the nation has chosen for nearly 70 years — was received across the globe with what three emotions? (MAIN)
5. The Justice Department has issued an opinion saying that President Trump's appointment of his son-in-law, Jared Kushner, as a senior White House adviser does not violate what laws? (MAIN)
6. On his first full day in office, President Trump on Saturday berated the media over its coverage of his inauguration, and turned a bridge building first visit to CIA headquarters into an airing of grievances about what? (MAIN)
7. "The Purloining of Prince Oleomargarine," is an expanded version of what may be the only written remnant of a children's fairy tale from Twain. What is this bedtime story about? (MAIN)
8. In a global exclamation of defiance and solidarity, more than _____ million people rallied at women's marches in the nation's capital and cities around the world Saturday to send President Trump an emphatic message on his first full day in office that they won't let his agenda go unchallenged. (MAIN)
9. Amid a national push, Washington state lawmakers are reintroducing a bill that would protect student journalists' free speech in school-sponsored media at public schools and colleges. What would Senate Bill 5064, introduced by Sen. Joe Fain, R-Auburn, do? (NW SUNDAY)
10. Analysts expect Amazon to have brought home nearly $_____ billion in sales in the fourth quarter, up 25 percent from the same period last year. (NW SUNDAY)

News Break is posted to the Web on Monday and Wednesday. Please share this NIE News Break program with other teachers. To sign-up for the print replica for your class, please call 206/652-6290 or toll-free 1-888/775-2655.

Copyright © 2017 The Seattle Times Company

News Break Scavenger Hunt Answer Key for Sunday, January 22, 2017

1. Harvard (MAIN, A2)
2. Royal duties (MAIN, A2)
3. 1970 (MAIN, A2)
4. Fear, silence and glee, sometimes within the same country. (MAIN, A5)
5. Federal anti-nepotism laws (MAIN, A6)
6. "Dishonest" journalists. But it was Trump who spread inaccuracies about the size of the crowds at his swearing-in. (MAIN, A6)
7. It was a bedtime story about a poor boy who eats a magic flower that gives him the ability to talk to animals. (MAIN, A17)
8. 1 million people (MAIN, A1)
9. The Bill would designate school media as "public forums for expression" and make students responsible for determining content so long as it is not slanderous or libelous, unjustly invades privacy, violates federal or state law or encourages students to break school rules or commit crimes. (NW Sunday, B1)
10. $45 billion in sales (NW SUNDAY, B2)