

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, November 21, 2021 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. The city of Aurora, Colorado, will pay $15 million to settle a lawsuit filed by the family of Elijah McClain, an unarmed 23-year-old Black man who died after law enforcement officers did what? (MAIN)
2. House Democrats passed a large bill Friday that aims to curb climate change, fight poverty and invest in children, workers and families. Approximately how much will it cost? (MAIN)
3. Three wildfires in California in the past 15 months killed or mortally wounded thousands of mature giant sequoias, accounting for _____% to _____% of the world's population of the majestic trees, officials said. (MAIN)
4. November is _____ Heritage Month. (MAIN)
5. A double-tear or "dogbone" roundabout, one of 140 roundabouts in the Indianapolis suburb of Carmel. A former city engineer estimates that each one saves about _____ gallons of fuel annually because drivers don't have to wait at lights with their engines idling. (MAIN)
6. _____, a University of Washington administrator, instructor, activist and community builder, who dedicated her life to building a medical infrastructure for underserved communities and staffing it with people of color, died Nov. 1. She received numerous awards and honors in her career, including the OMA&D Charles E. Odegard Award, the UW's highest diversity award. (NW)
7. "Self-portrait," on display at "Jimmie Durham: At The Center of The World" at the Whitney Museum of American Art in Manhattan in 2017. What did his work incorporate? (NW)
8. For the next eight months, the device she built — about half the size of a shoe box — was going to keep watch over the 5 million pieces of fruit jammed into that single room, making sure they didn't over ripen during their long stay in suspended animation. As a junior in college, Sizov started a company, Strella Biotechnology, to try to reduce what? (BUSINESS)
9. Nestlé invested in a vegan startup that is trying to mimic chicken in the most realistic way possible, including fake _____ and _____, as the world's largest food company presses ahead with expansion in plant-based meat substitutes. (BUSINESS)
10. Monica Van Winkle, sports dietitian for Pacific Northwest Ballet and Seattle Pacific Athletics, and owner of Nutrition in Action, said this focus on body fat stems from data on average body fat percentages for different types of athletes, but she knows of no study actually equating body fat to _____. "I've seen athletes with higher body fat be fastest on _____."

their team, I've also seen athletes with lower body fat be fastest on their team." (THE MIX)