News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday’s News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, May 1, 2022 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. Hector, a Deinonychus antirrhopus skeleton, will be auctioned by Christie’s. What is the estimated price tag for the 4-foot-tall specimen? (MAIN)
2. Tiktaalik roseae, is the extinct limbed fish that flopped its way onto land ______ million years ago. (MAIN)
3. Cannons found in Georgia’s Savannah River are believed to be relics from ships sunk during the ____________________________, when the British occupied Savannah. (MAIN)
4. Hall of Fame women’s basketball coach Stringer retires with ____________ career victories (SPORTS)
5. No matter the ups and downs of all-cash offers, waived inspections and bidding wars, if you’ve bought a home in the Seattle area recently, there’s one thing you probably have in common with other buyers-what is it? (BUSINESS)
6. With a familiar convenience store look, the new Amazon Go in Mill Creek is part of Amazon’s effort to reach more suburban shoppers with its “Just Walk Out” technology that lets customers skip what? (BUSINESS)
7. Amazon Go employees make an average of $_____-$_____ per hour, according to Glassdoor. (BUSINESS)
8. The Pacific Northwest is shaped by the culture and history of Indigenous peoples who have called this region home since time immemorial. As leaders of foundations explicitly focused on racial justice working in the states of Washington and Oregon, it is impossible for us to ignore one of the country’s most profound injustices unfolding right in our backyards: the historical oppression of the Chinook Nation and the ongoing roadblocks to restore federal recognition. Why is this federal recognition so important to Native tribes? (OPINION)
9. Define metabolism. (THE MIX)
10. Bringing _________________ bags to the grocery store is one way to become more sustainably minded in the kitchen. (AT HOME IN THE NW)