

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, January 21, 2023 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. Thousands of double-crested cormorants moved to the bridge after wildlife officials chased them off their island home in a failed effort to save what? (MAIN)
2. Tens of thousands of people protested the far right in cities across Germany on Saturday, attending events with slogans such as "Never Again is Now," "Against Hate" and "Defend Democracy." The large crowds were the latest in a series of demonstrations that have been gaining momentum in recent days. The demonstrations came in the wake of a report that right-wing extremists recently met to discuss what? (MAIN)
3. This spring, for the first time since 1803, two cicada groups known as Brood XIX, or the Great Southern Brood, and Brood XIII, or the Northern Illinois Brood, are set to appear at the same time, in what is known as what? (MAIN)
4. RYE, N.H. — For more than a century, when selectmen here honored the town's oldest resident, the title came with a distinctive trophy. What was it and how long could they keep it? (MAIN)
5. Boeing's historical dominance in the widebody cargo jet market is threatened by a _____ standard that could shutter the 777-freighter line at the end of 2027. (MAIN)
6. At 130 feet, the redwoods are on pace, maybe in another 30 years, to overtake the rest. Their species is named Sequoia sempervirens-what does that mean? (NW)
7. In 2023, streaming surpassed broadcast and cable TV viewing for the first time, according to Nielsen. But in the current presidential election cycle of 2024, the mantra is "long live TV." Even as audiences decline, TV is expected to see a record haul in 2024 as a contentious presidential primary and general election — plus 435 congressional seats, 33 U.S. Senate races and 14 statewide gubernatorial contests — will drive political advertising expenditures across all platforms to $_____ billion, according to media investment agency GroupM. (BUSINESS)
8. Although Americans are questioning the value of college, research shows that people with college degrees typically earn nearly _____% more than those without them. Jobs that require a degree also often come with a range of benefits: flexible schedules, paid time off and sick and parental leave. (BUSINESS)
9. After clearing the $1-trillion-mark last spring, _____ has continued to mount, rising 4.7% in the third quarter to $1.08 trillion, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. Card debt fell during 2020-21 but rose as Americans turned to credit to cover expenses amid rising prices. Card debt is growing even as inflation cools and the job market remains resilient. (BUSINESS)

10. Seattle's minimum wage is now $_____ for businesses with at least 501 employees and $_____ an hour for businesses with 500 or fewer, so long as they pay $2.72 an hour toward medical benefits or employees make at least $2.72 an hour in tips. (THE MIX)