

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, October 13, 2024 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. State-owned forest land generates revenue that helps fund a range of public services, including education, health care and public safety. But these older forests are also important _____.
(MAIN)
2. TODAY IN HISTORY: Rescuers in Chile using a missile-like escape capsule pulled 33 men one by one to fresh air and freedom, 69 days after they were trapped in a collapsed mine 2,300 feet underground. What year did this happen? (MAIN)
3. After inviting millions of newcomers to Canada in recent years to help lift the economy, the government has reversed course amid growing concerns that immigrants are contributing to the country's deepening challenges around _____, _____ and other issues. (MAIN)
4. After 30 years of using traditional boots-on-the-ground observations, the researchers are collecting _____ in hopes of honing population estimates, tracking wolves without using radio collars and reducing conflict between the animals and ranchers. (MAIN)
5. The boom in pet services has changed the country's urban landscape. Hospitals and shops catering to pets have become ubiquitous, while childbirth clinics have all but disappeared, as South Korea's birthrate has become the _____ in the world. In parks and neighborhoods, strollers are more often than not carrying dogs. Online shopping malls say they sell more baby carriages for dogs than for babies. (MAIN)
6. Washington players exit the field after losing to Iowa 40-16 in Iowa City, Iowa, on Saturday. It was the Huskies' largest margin of defeat since when? (SPORTS)
7. In two Seattle schools, Robert Eagle Staff and Hamilton International middle schools, students don't have their phones during the school day this fall. What will happen to their phones? (NW)
8. _____ is estimated to cost the U.S. economy $26.6 billion every year, including $1.8 billion due to lost productivity and billions more in health expenses. Symptoms like hot flashes, brain fog and sleep problems can all disrupt a person's ability to get things done at the office. (JOBS)
9. Working from home appears to cater to society's most _____ groups. Better educated, higher earners are more likely to work in consulting, software programming, or other jobs that don't require their in-person presence every day, the study found. And those living in larger houses further away from the city are both more able and more willing to work from home. (JOBS)

10. The delightfully dramatic setting for the Chanel Spring/Summer fashion show was the _____ in Paris, earlier this month — complete with a giant bird cage through which models walked, a vast replica of a small decorative object from Gabrielle Chanel's Paris apartment, beautifully echoing the building's curves. (THE MIX)