

News Break Scavenger Hunt

This week's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Monday, April 1, 2025, print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. Brad Smith, president of Microsoft, on the company's Redmond campus in March. Smith wants to do more than rehabilitate Microsoft's image — he also wants to transform the Northwest with what? (MAIN)
2. A group of state lawmakers on Monday proposed spending an additional $____ billion for salmon recovery projects stemming from the state's long-running tribal fishing rights lawsuit. (MAIN)
3. Boas decided to acquire it for the American Museum of Natural History in New York, where he was a curator. He was driven by a concept known as "_____", in which researchers saw collecting Native cultural possessions as a way to safeguard them from destruction as Indigenous populations plummeted. (MAIN)
4. NASA's celebrity astronauts Butch Wilmore and Suni Williams said Monday that they hold themselves partly responsible for what went wrong on their space sprint-turned-marathon and would fly on Boeing's _____ again. (MAIN)
5. Scientists who want to learn more about a tiny flower recently discovered in West Texas are hoping it will bloom again in a couple of weeks after rain finally fell in the area. Dubbed the wooly devil, the flower with furry leaves, purplish-striped petals and pops of yellow is a new genus and species in the same family as sunflowers and daisies:_____. It was discovered last year in Big Bend National Park, known for its rugged terrain of desert, canyons and mountains, on the border with Mexico. (MAIN)
6. Americans are tapping the brakes on spending — pulling back on dining out, hotel stays and other expenses, as they boost their savings before new _____ and continued _____. (BUSINESS)
7. Magic Elizabeth: A breakfast serials story-Sally mentioned to Emily that there was a mystery in Aunt Sarah's house. What is the mystery? (BUSINESS)
8. The Trump administration's mixed messaging on what new tariffs will be unveiled Wednesday and how they'll be announced have equities traders flustered as they try to position around the biggest risk confronting the market in _____. (BUSINESS)
9. The mortgage company Rocket is buying competitor Mr. Cooper in an all-stock deal valued at $9.4 billion, just weeks after acquiring real estate listing company _____. (BUSINESS)
10. When it comes to Native human remains, funerary objects and other cultural items recovered in the United States, a law passed in 1990 set up what? (MAIN)