

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, September 7, 2025, print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. On the biggest stage in the sport, _____ delivered a lighthearted and surprisingly brief 13-minute speech before being inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame on Saturday. (MAIN)
2. An American social media influencer who has been stuck in a Chilean airbase in Antarctica for two months after landing a plane there without permission was released on Saturday back to the mainland, where he was to pay $_____ in penalties. (MAIN)
3. TODAY IN HISTORY: Nazi Germany began an intense bombing campaign of Britain during World War II with an air attack on London; known as The Blitz, the eight-month campaign resulted in more than 40,000 civilian deaths. What year did this take place? (MAIN)
4. Thousands of ordinary admirers and VIPs paid their last respects Saturday to _____, remembered by Milan's mayor as a "man of extraordinary elegance" who left an indelible mark on the city and the global fashion world. (MAIN)
5. Postal traffic into the United States plunged by more than _____% after the Trump administration ended a tariff exemption for low-cost imports, the United Nations postal agency said Saturday. (MAIN)
6. Masked dancers perform Saturday during Indra Jatra, a festival that marks what, in Kathmandu, Nepal? (MAIN)
7. Tens of millions of _____ once roamed North America, grazing on grasslands, forests and plains, from the Great Basin of Nevada to the Atlantic coast. It is difficult today to imagine the size of herds that are no longer seen; Lakota oral histories gauged herd size by the number of days it took them to pass. (MAIN)
8. Thousands of protesters marched across Washington, D.C., on Saturday in one of the largest demonstrations against what specific change in the nation's capital? (MAIN)
9. Ixchel Lemus-Bromley, center, who founded the run club for visually impaired athletes called _____, takes off at Green Lake during a group run, with the assistance of her sighted friends Christina Adams, left, and Olga Dorabiala, who serves as the main guide and uses a tether. (THE MIX)
10. "_____ is special to the agricultural community," says Andrew Byers, operations manager at Finnriver. "The bounty is surrounding us. It seems like a prime opportunity to invite people in to see the results of the work." (THE MIX)