

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, November 16, 2025, print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. An empty _____, one of the five reservoirs feeding the Yakima River Basin, has been a familiar scene for drivers on Snoqualmie Pass. (MAIN)
2. Hundreds wore red shirts, symbolizing the blood of colleagues fighting to protect the environment. And others chanted, waved huge flags or held up signs Saturday in what's traditionally the biggest day of protest at the halfway point of annual United Nations _____. (MAIN)
3. Michael Bennett inside " _____," a traveling structure by his Studio Kër, on exhibit on the grounds of the Northwest African American Museum in Seattle. (MAIN)
4. The Vatican said Saturday it will return dozens of cultural items in its museums that were taken from _____ in Canada more than a century ago, including an Inuvialuit kayak once used for whale hunting. (MAIN)
5. This January, the U.S. Supreme Court is set to hear oral arguments in an Idaho case to decide whether transgender women and girls should be able to participate in sports that align with their _____. (MAIN)
6. Many in the Pacific Northwest and beyond are talking about Seattle Mayor-elect Katie Wilson's razor-thin win as a victory for the future of _____ in America. (MAIN)
7. The orca pod that forages in the waters just north of this Aleutian island is quick to swarm any halibut boat with a skipper foolish enough to drop lines in its domain. As the lines are pulled up, and fresh-caught fish near the surface, the whales, in a well-honed feeding ritual, do what? (NW)
8. Modern cars are computers on wheels that are becoming increasingly connected, enabling innovative new features that make driving safer and more convenient. But these systems are also what? (BUSINESS)
9. Hundreds of attendees fill the dance floor at the Seafood City Late Night Madness dance party in Tukwila on Nov. 8, at one point making an impromptu conga line. Seafood City organizers say they created the event series to do what? (THE MIX)
10. A study from earlier this year found that getting _____ minutes of exercise per week brought blood sugar back into the normal range among 20% of participants with "prediabetes" within a year. (THE MIX)
