

News Break Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, May 31, 2026, print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. What does this picture show? (MAIN)

2. What does this picture show? (MAIN)

3. TODAY IN HISTORY: A two-day massacre erupted in Tulsa, Okla., as white mobs looted and burned the affluent Black district of Greenwood over reports a Black man had assaulted a white woman in an elevator. Though the exact number remains unknown, as many as 300 Black Tulsans were killed during the riot. What year did this happen? (MAIN)
4. The American Meteor Society said that the booms people heard were actually caused by a _____ about 3 feet wide entering the atmosphere around the New Hampshire border with Massachusetts, north of Boston. NASA officials confirmed that the meteor was natural material, not a satellite or space debris, and that it entered the atmosphere at 2:06 p.m. (MAIN)
5. The head of the World Health Organization on Saturday visited eastern Congo's Bunia, a city at the heart of an outbreak of a rare type of _____. (MAIN)
6. At least some of the 18 American cruise ship passengers potentially exposed to the _____ will be allowed to leave a quarantine facility Monday, after nearly three weeks in isolation. (MAIN)
7. In an internal post last month, Meta told its U.S. employees that it was making a change that would affect tens of thousands of them. What employees typed into their computer, how they moved their mouse, where they clicked and what they saw on their screen would be _____, Meta said. (JOBS)

8. Graduating from school is an important moment in any student's life, marking the completion of a learning journey. Core to graduation ceremonies is the celebration and affirmation of a student's _____, _____ and _____. (THE MIX)
9. Kauakanilehua Māhoe Adams' debut novel-in-verse, "An Expanse of Blue," follows Aouli Elizabeth Smith, a _____ teenager growing up just outside of Seattle. (THE MIX)
10. A recent study found that healthy versions of both low-carbohydrate and low-fat diets, which emphasized plant-based foods, whole grains and unsaturated fats, were associated with a significantly lower risk of _____. (THE MIX)